Military or civilian persons such as chaplains who are exclusively engaged either temporarily or permanently in the work of their ministry (spiritual assistance) and attached to the armed forces [1] or to medical units [2], medical transports, or civil defence organizations [3]. Religious personnel enjoy the same protection as medical personnel [4] and are identified by the distinctive emblem of the red cross, red crescent or red crystal [5] worn on their clothing. The provisions governing medical personnel also apply to religious personnel.

See Protected Persons [6];

OUTLINE

Chapter 7, III. Medical and religious personnel [7]

LEGAL SOURCE

definition: religious personnel attached to the armed forces or medical units

Pl, 8 [8]
BIBLIOGRAPHIC RESOURCES

Source URL: https://casebook.icrc.org/glossary/religious-personnel

Links
[1] https://casebook.icrc.org/glossary/armed-forces
[3] https://casebook.icrc.org/glossary/civil-defence
[10] https://www.icrc.org/customary-ihl/eng/docs/v1_rul_rule30